

Discussion period

France and Germany have been driving forces in the process of the European integration.

If East Asia should move to establish a regional unity in future, which countries should take a leadership? What are possible problems involved?