

THE SIGUR CENTER FOR ASIAN STUDIES

THE ELLIOTT SCHOOL OF INTERNATIONAL AFFAIRS

U.S.-JAPAN-CHINA RELATIONS AND EAST ASIAN REGIONAL SECURITY

A FORUM FEATURING:

A student delegation from Kyoto University's "International Relations Seminar Class"

This is a course in which a small number of students do intensive research, analysis, presentations, and discussion on many hot-button issues taking place in the world.

The students will hold a forum with other students, faculty, scholars, and interested individuals at the George Washington University to discuss U.S.-Japan-China relations and East Asian regional security as the final project for their course. This is an open forum for discussion between the delegation and the audience.

The group is led by Kyoto University Associate Professor of European and American Economic History, Takeshi Sakade, and includes students Kazushi Minami, Kiyohiko Atsuji, Yuka Nishiwaki, and He Xuanye.
